

BRITISH BATTLESHIP
TORPEDOED BY TURKS
MORE THAN 500 OF CREW LOST

The Goliath Sunk in the Dardanelles Wednesday Night by Turkish Destroyers—Turkish Gunboats and Transport Sunk by British Submarines.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 13.—The British battleship Goliath was torpedoed and sunk by Turkish destroyers in the Dardanelles last night, with the loss of more than 500 members of her crew, it was announced, by First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill in the House of Commons today.

The Goliath was attacked and sunk while protecting the flank of the French troops in their land operations.

Dispatches to the admiralty from Vice Admiral Michael de Robeck, commander of the British fleet in the Dardanelles sphere of operations, said that 20 officers and 160 men of the Goliath's crew had been saved. The battleship normally carried a complement of 750 men.

In the same operations in which the Goliath was lost the British submarine E. 14 sank two Turkish gunboats and a large transport.

The Goliath a sister ship of the Canopus, Ocean, Glory, Albion and Vengeance, was a vessel of 12,950 tons and was commanded by Captain Thomas L. Sheldford.

The Goliath's length at the waterline was four hundred feet and her beam was 74 feet. She carried four 12-inch guns, 12 6-inch guns, ten 12-pounders and smaller armament in addition to four submerged torpedo tubes. Her speed was 18 knots.

The Goliath was commissioned at Portsmouth on April 22, 1909. Her destruction by a torpedo recalls Turkish claims that other battleships had been torpedoed during Dardanelles operations, whereas information from non-Turkish sources had listed them as the victims of the Krupp guns in the Turkish forts.

WHAT WILL BE GERMANY'S REPLY?

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 13.—Only one question is heard in Washington today, "What will be Germany's reply to the American note?"

The answer may be furnished in what befalls the Transylvania, which has now sailed from New York for British shores. Long before a formal reply comes to the state department the German government may show its determination to continue its submarine warfare on belligerent merchantmen carrying neutrals.

The contents of the note probably will be made public Friday. Administration officials are certain it will reach every requirement of the situation and receive the united support of the American people.

The demand for reparation for the victims of the Lusitania contained in the note is puzzling certain officials in Washington. Inasmuch as no financial reparation would be sufficient to atone for the loss of so many American lives, speculation is heard as to just what type of reparation the note refers.

Reports are heard in Washington today that German officials are now unofficially admitting that the sinking of the Lusitania was a huge mistake on the part of the German admiralty. They declare that it was never intended to sink her but merely to disable her so severely that she would have to be beached. The Germans thought that this act would throw such a scare into British shipping interests that their plan to restore the Mauritania and the Aquitania to transatlantic service would be abandoned. The origin of these reports has not been ascertained.

It is the expectation in Washington that Germany will show a willingness to negotiate with the United States, without conceding her demands in full. It is expected that she will make a prompt reply which will be most conciliatory in tone.

At St. Joseph's Church.

Ascension Day was observed at St. Joseph's Church at nine o'clock this morning with mass celebrated by the Rev. John H. Briody, pastor of the church, at which there were fifty-eight first communicants. The girls were dressed in white, with white veils, and the boys wore black suits and white ties. The entire class of first communicants made a fine appearance as they entered the church and the service was largely attended. These fifty-eight boys and girls, together with another large class, will receive the rite of confirmation during the fall.

FEDERATION WOMEN
HOLD A MEETING

There was a brief meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the home of the president, Mrs. M. J. Michael, this morning, when final arrangements were made for the general meeting on Saturday, and a few reports were given. Now here is a matter that should interest every woman in the city who has paid dues, either as an individual member or as a member of the three literary clubs, of the Sunshine Society; of the Humane, Public Health or any other committee, or of the Social Center Association. Every such woman is not only entitled but expected to attend the general Federation meetings, such as the one to be held on Saturday, for it is only by attendance at these general meetings that the women of the community may become conversant with the work being done by the Federation of which they are a part. Therefore every woman in any way a member of the Federation is expected to be at the general meeting to be held on Saturday of this week, at 2:30 o'clock, at the chapel of the First Dutch Church. This particular meeting will be of unusual importance as it is the annual meeting, and officers will be elected and concise annual reports will be given by the various clubs and committees. The Atharhaction Club will act as hostess at this meeting, and following the business session the members of this club will entertain the Federation members with one of their delightful programs. Here is another important matter. Dues from clubs and individual members may be paid on Saturday and should be paid when possible, thus saving the unnecessary expense of sending bills by mail to members, etc.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Miss Ellen Van Slyke, Mrs. Mark O'Meara gave the treasurer's report for the past month as follows:

It was reported that plans for Tag Day were well under way, the chairman of wards having been secured and that further announcements regarding this plan to raise necessary funds for Federation work, will be published a little later.

Mrs. Gillespie of the Sunshine Society stated that much additional help for old people had been necessary the past winter and spring, but to balance matters there had been added generosity on the part of the people. At the Sunshine Society's last meeting the announcement was made that milk bills and rents for which the society were responsible had been paid up to October, a splendid showing.

Mrs. Michael reported progress for the Political Equality Club, and Dr. Day told briefly of attending the public health committee meeting in Utica and other places, and the impression prevailing in these places that the Kingston Federation was doing an unusually large amount of worth while work.

Mrs. Basten reported one new member, Mrs. Jay E. Klock. The meeting closed with a brief recital and receipt of other repairs. The tug Rob took the boat up the creek in its place the ferryboat City of Newburgh is now running between here and Rhinecliff. The repairs to the Transport will take only a short time before she will be back on the route.

The tug Levy came down the river this morning from Albany with the tow of the Cornell line. Wednesday night the tug Osceola left New York bound north with a big tow. Beginning Friday morning the steamer Elihu Bunker will start two trips daily between Rondout and Poughkeepsie, leaving at 6:30 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. The E. B. Gardner is on the run to Glasco making three trips daily at 6:25 and 11 a. m., and 3 p. m.

Game Protectors Promoted.
Game Protectors Eugene Cross of Liberty and Fred DeWitt of this city have been promoted by the Conservation Commission to the rank of first grade protectors. The promotion carries with it an increase of $100 a year in salary and additional protection under the state conservation law. Only 20 of the 125 game protectors in the state have been promoted to the first grade.

Too Three Bites.

A dog owned by Michael Kearney of Broadway, near Brewster street, bit a young boy named Eugene Rider on Wednesday afternoon. The animal took three bites while the boy was in the Kearney yard looking for a baseball which had been lost. Complaint was made to the police of the dog and a warrant may be issued later by the recorder.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S ADVICE TO AMERICANS.

My urgent advice to you would be not only always to think first of America, but always to think first of humanity. You do not love humanity if you seek to divide humanity into jealous camps.

There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince by force that it is right.—From Mr. Wilson's speech in Philadelphia.

GOVERNOR SIGNS
CHARTER BILL

The bill of Senator Walton amending the charter of the city of Kingston was signed by Governor Whitman on Wednesday. The bill provides among other things for the appointment of a board of public works, the consolidation of the offices of city judge and recorder, creates a firemen's pension fund, provides for the payment of school taxes in August, and general taxes on the first of February and extends the fiscal year for making reports to the mayor by departments to December 1. Other provisions provide for the appointment of a marshal and probation officer, changing the name of the board of alms commissioners to the board of charities and the alms house to city home. The salary of city assessor is increased from $1,200 to $1,500. The board of education is limited in its expenditures to one per cent of the assessed valuation of the real estate in the city.

Navigation Notes.

The ferryboat Transport was towed to the Hiltelbrant dry dock at South Rondout this morning to be recaulked and receive other repairs. The tug Rob took the boat up the creek in its place the ferryboat City of Newburgh is now running between here and Rhinecliff. The repairs to the Transport will take only a short time before she will be back on the route.

The tug Levy came down the river this morning from Albany with the tow of the Cornell line. Wednesday night the tug Osceola left New York bound north with a big tow. Beginning Friday morning the steamer Elihu Bunker will start two trips daily between Rondout and Poughkeepsie, leaving at 6:30 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. The E. B. Gardner is on the run to Glasco making three trips daily at 6:25 and 11 a. m., and 3 p. m.

Eastern Star Entertainment.

Emil Closs, a well known entertainer of New York city, will give an entertainment Friday evening in Masonic Hall, Wall street, under the auspices of Clinton Chapter, No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star. Besides introducing his famous Swiss band bells, Mr. Closs appears in songs, stories, pantomime and costumed character impersonations, and the chapter will also provide several extra specialties. Mr. Closs is well known among the various lyceum bureaus throughout the country and the supplementary features to be provided by the local chapter will prove interesting. Tickets may be obtained from members of the chapter.

ACADEMY STUDENTS' PLAY.

"She Stoops to Conquer" to be Given by Seniors.

In closing their student life at Kingston Academy, the Senior Class of that institution has made a good selection in Oliver Goldsmith's famous play, "She Stoops to Conquer," which will be presented as the class play by the members of the class at the Kingston opera house Friday evening.

So many classes of Kingston Academy in the past have presented plays successfully that the present graduating class deemed it fitting that their academic course, as well as the history of the Academy as such, should be closed with a class play to be presented by the students exclusively.

The use of the high school auditorium for the play, which was granted by the board of education, was found to be unavailing because of the lack of scenery there, and the opera house was substituted accordingly. The rehearsals have been held under the direction of Miss Mary E. Noone of the Academy faculty, whose success in such affairs in the past gives promise of an excellent production Friday night.

Tickets may be procured from academy students or at the opera house box office.

Church of the Holy Spirit.

Services at Church of the Holy Spirit, Wurts street, the Rev. John James Bott, rector, for Ascension Day.—Evensong with sermon at 7:30 o'clock. Special music by choir, parts of Stainer's sacred cantata, "Daughter of Jairus." Solo work will be rendered by Mrs. John Osterhoudt, soprano; William R. Anderson, bass; Raymond Senter, second soprano; the rector, tenor.

An Esopus Speeder.

There was but one case before Recorder Lang this morning. Charles Kuhlenskup of Ulster Park, who was arrested on Tuesday night on the charge of running his automobile at 28 miles an hour on Broadway as clocked by Policeman Kuehn, pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $2.

The High School Lawn.

The sodding of the terraces about the new high school is now in progress under the direction of the contractor, Henry McNamee. Concrete walks are also being laid in front of the building and the fertilizing of the main grass plot in front of the high school is also being done.

Fire in Coal Pocket.

A slight fire occurred on Wednesday afternoon at the trestle of Watts & Tammany's coal pocket on Ferry street. The cause of the fire is not known but the flames had made good headway when discovered. With the aid of a stream from the tug W. S. Earl the fire was soon extinguished.

DEATH LIST NOW
ESTIMATED AT 960

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Queenstown, May 13.—The number of victims of the German submarine which sank the Lusitania still missing today was placed at between 950 and 960. As a result of widespread protests officials of the admiralty and the Cunard line are making more vigorous search for bodies not than at any time since the great liner was sent to the bottom and a squadron of tugs and tenders today patrolled the coast from Waterford to Fastnet Rock. The weather was unfavorable for the search, being rainy and foggy.

Patrol boats have been dispatched to a point off South Glandore where a fishing boat reported having seen about 100 bodies floating in the water.

U. S. Consul Wesley Frost has taken charge of the disposition of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plamondon and announced today that he would ship them to Chicago.

Two more bodies have been picked up from a Lusitania life raft near Skull and will be brought here for possible identification.

Among the missing are Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Elmer Hubbard, Charles Klein, Justus M. Forman and more than 100 other Americans. The report that Lindon Bates, Jr., had been rescued, was discovered to be unfounded.

Suit Against Railroad.

Claiming that a spark from a Wallkill Valley freight engine set fire to his store building at Binnewater former Sheriff Henry J. Hoffman of this city has brought suit against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad to recover $5,000 damages for the loss of the building by fire. The case was taken up for trial on Wednesday in supreme court before Judge Chester and a jury and at this morning's session of court it was announced that it would probably take all of today's session to try and all jurors not engaged in the trial of the suit were discharged until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The case is being tried for Sheriff Hoffman by A. E. Rose and Judge John G. Van Etten while Amos Van Etten appears for the railroad company. The testimony given is practically the same as that given at the trial of the suit brought by George Castor against the railroad, which was tried at a recent term of court and which resulted in the jury disagreeing. Castor, who worked for the sheriff, occupied the living apartments above the store and sued to recover for loss of his household furniture. At the session on Tuesday the following witnesses were called by the sheriff: George Castor, Silas Castor, Levi DeWitt, Luther Keator, Henry Krempel, Louis Low, Leonard P. Clark and John Wilson.

Local Bowlers in Newburgh.

Wednesday evening Charles DeForest, Theodore Wood, Charles R. O'Connor, Frank Thompson, and Grove Webster, Jr., comprising the local Y. M. C. A. bowling team, motored to Newburgh to compete in the big bowling tournament being held in that city. At the close of the tournament twenty prizes will be awarded but who are the winners will not be known until the tournament closes. The local bowlers made a total score of 2,468 pins. They also competed in the singles. DeForest scored 486, Wood, 526; O'Connor, 516; Thompson, 403; and Webster, 524 pins. In the doubles O'Connor and Thompson bowled 961 pins, and Webster and DeForest, 993 pins. The high single individual score made by Kingston was that of Wood with 298 pins.

Highland Ice Case Argued.

Among the cases heard by the court of appeals at Albany on Wednesday was that of Pasquale Valentino and Francesco Valentino, respondents, against Philip Schantz and Lorin Schantz, appellants. This was an appeal from the judgment of the appellate division modifying and affirming judgment of the Ulster supreme court in an action to restrain defendants from entering or attempting on the ice pond at Highland for the purpose of cutting ice, also to recover $1,350. Andrew W. Lent argued the case for the appellants and Rosario Magro for the respondents.

Excursion to New York.

On Sunday morning at 8 o'clock the steamer Benjamin B. Odell will leave Rondout to take an excursion down the river to witness the magnificent spectacle of the Atlantic fleet now anchored in the Hudson. There are sixty war vessels in line including the most powerful battleships in the U. S. navy and also some of the terrible submarines such as are raising such havoc in Europe. The boat will circle the fleet making no landings in New York and returning to Rondout about 9 o'clock in the evening.

Four Sulzer Followers.

Sulzer recruits are enlisting slowly and only four have enrolled under the Sulzer banner in the American party since the names were printed in The Freeman on May 6, and to date the total enlistments in Sulzer's army in Ulster county is just seventy-two, and the enrollment books will close the first of June. The four latest recruits are Clarence Roosa of Lomontville, Frank Dickinson of Ulsterville, Early North of West Shokan, and Benjamin W. Dudley of Olive Bridge.

BARNES BEGINS
HIS TESTIMONY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, May 13.—William Barnes shortly before noon today took the stand in his $50,000 libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt. Barnes's appearance on the stand came as a surprise. He went on sooner than expected because several of his witnesses failed to appear.

The man whom Roosevelt called "boss" and accused of being a corrupt crooked-business-crooked-politics-alliance with Charles F. Murphy and Tammany Hall, took the stand with a nonchalant air and sat with crossed legs and arms resting on the chair. In one hand he held a pencil with which he emphasized his words from time to time.

At the afternoon session, Barnes was excused from the stand while William L. Barnum, of Barnes's counsel, examined more ex-exactors and assemblymen about the senatorial election of 1911. Barnes went on this morning because these witnesses were absent.

PRIZES FOR THE
FIREMEN'S PARADE

The executive committee in charge of the arrangements for the firemen's convention to be held in Kingston in June held an important meeting at Central Fire Station on Wednesday evening. The committee classified the prizes which will be awarded during the day of the big parade. The first prize will be $50 in gold and will be awarded the fire company coming the longest distance, provided it has at least twenty-five uniformed men in line. The second prize is also $50 in gold and will be awarded to the company with the greatest number of uniformed men in line. The third prize will be $75 in gold and will be awarded to the company performing the best military drill, to be determined at a competitive drill to be held at the close of the parade on Pine Grove avenue. The judges will be chosen later and will probably be military men. Other matters pertaining to transportation and so forth were also discussed. Those present at the meeting were Mayor Canfield, chairman, Peter P. Zeeh, E. Otis Van Aken, Frank P. Quigley, William Kolts, Lucullus Dunne, Fire Commissioners Kolts and Lahl, and Secretary Belcher.

SHELDON WILL CONTEST FAILS

Surrogate Gill has admitted to probate the will of Mrs. Ann Sheldon of Ellenville, over which a contest was made by a number of cousins.

Mrs. Sheldon was married three times. Her first husband was Mr. Flatow, a well known resident of Ellenville for many years, and she had been married to her third husband, John Sheldon, less than a year when she died.

Her death followed a stroke of paralysis, which she received early one morning just after her husband had left the house to go to work. She was unable to talk for several days but on the Sunday following the paralytic stroke she expressed a wish in her crippled way that she desired to make a will.

Lawyer H. Westlake Coons was summoned and asked her in regard to the disposition she desired to make of her property. She was unable to speak coherently but nodded her head as questions were asked of her, and on the hearings on the contest of the will it was contended by the contestants that this was not her will, but that in her weakened condition she had adopted suggestions which had been made to her. This contention was hotly rebuffed by Surrogate Gill, who holds that the case does not come within the rule laid down by the court of appeals in a celebrated case where the facts were somewhat similar and on which the contestants relied.

By her will, Mrs. Sheldon gave her estate equally to her husband, John Sheldon, and to her step-son, John Flatow, and appointed both executors. H. Westlake Coons appeared for the executors and John R. DeVany for the contestants.

Saugerties Charity Incorporated.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, May 13.—Articles of incorporation under the membership corporation law have been filed with the secretary of state by The Ellen Russell Finger Home for Old and Indigent Women, Inc., of Saugerties. ## WALKILL.

Walkill, May 12.—The Woman's Club will hold their annual meeting and election of officers on Friday at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Byron Galloway. It is expected that a large number of new members will join the club at this meeting.

The Library and Village Improvement Association held its fifteenth anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Halliday on Monday evening. Automobiles met and conveyed the guests to the beautiful Halliday mansion. A most interesting business session was held. Mrs. Joseph Millsbaugh read a valuable historical paper covering the 15 years of the library's history. Mrs. Ellen Borden and her daughter, Nellie Hamilton, now deceased, were the founders and supporters of the Walkill Library, and the entire Borden family have always been loyal benefactors to the association. Walkill still looks forward to the day when she will be able to have her own library building.

Arbor Day was appropriately observed at the high school on Friday afternoon. In fact it was one of the best observances the school ever held. Dainty, hand painted programs, the work of the 7th and 8th grades were very unique. The program consisting of recitations and music, vocal and instrumental, was ably carried out. The last number on the program, "The Peace Pageant" was most attractive and interesting, and gave both old and young a vivid idea of the present war. Field day feasts followed the program, which were much enjoyed by all. Too much credit cannot be given Prof. Gosway and his able corps of teachers.

The Rev. John Gebhard of the Dutch Reformed Church spoke in the church on Sunday evening. He made a loud call for men to enter the ministry and we trust several young men were so deeply impressed that Walkill will again have the honor of reporting more men ready to give their lives to the ministry.

Our beautiful country never looked more beautiful than it does now. Gail Borden is a guest of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Borden. Mr. Borden and his mother recently returned from Ormond, Fla., where they spent the past winter. Miss Nina DeWitt and Eugene McClellenny of Walkill were married on Thursday last at the Catholic Church by the Rev. Holland. A host of good wishes extended to their many friends here.

Fords are growing more popular for our young men. George Decker purchased a new touring car last week.

Mrs. C. F. Morse and son, Gregory, of Malden, Mass., are sojourning at the home of Mrs. Nellie Roosa. Mr. Morse was a week end visitor at the same place.

A large party of men motored to Paterson Sunday to hear "Billy" Sunday and others have gone since. All were deeply impressed by the noted evangelist.

It is reported that there is to be an up-to-date garage built in our village, which will be a needed addition.

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warner was celebrated at The Park View House on Tuesday night at a sumptuous dinner and dance. Mr. and Mrs. Warner are as young in spirit as rose brides and grooms of today, and have a large circle of friends who congratulate them.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, May 13.—David W. Cole and Peter C. Myer are doing some carpenter work in Blue Mountain for Jesse Wolven.

The Saugerties water board have put a concrete floor in the barn of the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

S. P. Cole and son have been building a house for Ernest Mower of Centerville.

James Hommel and family of Saugerties spent Sunday with Joshua Snyder and family.

Melvin Doyle and Wilson Plue were Sunday guests at Albert Doyle's.

John Rifenberg has returned to Joshua Snyder's, after spending some time in Woodstock.

Mrs. Charles Hommel and sons, Raymond and Norman, of Saugerties, were guests of relatives here on Sunday.

John Cole attended the funeral of C. C. Heermance on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Nolan, who took care of James Cole, has returned to her home.

Hattie Snyder, who has a position in Saugerties, spent Sunday with her parents, James Snyder and wife.

Mrs. Bach, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Legge, has returned home.

Edward Legge and family spent Sunday with friends here.

Maud Schoonmaker has obtained a position in Saugerties.

Grace Whalen and her sister, Alice, of Tannersville spent the week end with their parents. They were Sunday guests at their grandmother's, Mrs. Erbecker, of Manorville. Wilson Hommel took them back to Tannersville on Monday.

OLIVEREA.

Olivera, May 13.—Mrs. A. R. Alverson of Rhinecliff is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pomeroy, here.

Ex-Supervisor G. W. Lament of Big Indian was in town Wednesday.

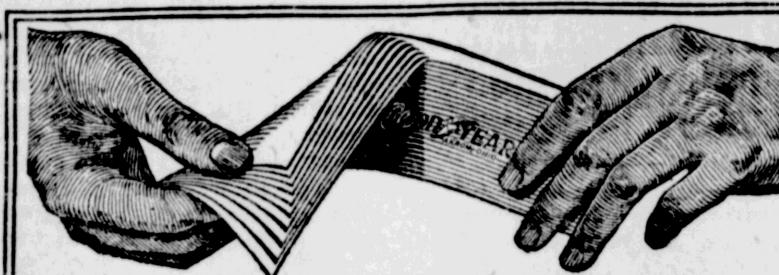

There will be no more meetings of the local branch of the Ulster County Farm Bureau in this village until fall.

Mrs. Harry Proseus expects to return to her home at Clyde next week. Sunday school will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and will be followed by preaching service at 3:30.

Both stage drivers on the Claryville-Big Indian mail route now have automobiles. Addison C. Haynes having purchased one a few days ago. This insures better service to the patrons along the route.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes

Here is something every motorist should know.

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are built of many thin layers—each of pure rubber—vulcanized together. No flaw can be hidden as in a thick piece of rubber. It is seen and eliminated. Every layer is perfect.

Such a Tube can't leak. And our valve patch can't leak, because it is part of the Tube and not stuck on.

Remember that. Many a tire trouble is due to leaky Tubes.

14% Heavier

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are extra heavy. They have always outworn any tire. But this year we have added 14 per cent to their average thickness—all pure rubber.

And our

Laminated Tubes
Extra Heavy Tubes—Uncolored
By the Makers of Fortified Tires

Tube prices this year are reduced 20 per cent. So these layer Tubes, extra-thick, now cost about the same as others.

Always Gray

Goodyear Laminated Tubes are not colored. They are gray—the natural pure rubber color. Color requires a large percentage of mineral adulteration. And minerals hold heat, a Tube's worst enemy.

Whatever tires you use, get Goodyear Tubes. They will outlast your tires, save you leaks and trouble. They will also convert you to Goodyear Fortified Tires, built by the same high standards.

Any dealer will supply you. (270)

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 13, 1915.

We are pleased to note that the New Yorker Staats Zeitung says that starting out Germany "is impossible anyway." Of course it is. As a writer in Collier's says: "England knows she would have to stage 5,000,000 Belgians, 6,000,000 Russian Poles, and several million French, to say nothing of a million military prisoners, before she could begin on the enemy." The theory of this writer is to convince the world of the hopelessness of Germany's situation, while Germany's object in expressing fear is to get sympathy by creating the impression that England is brutal. Very likely this is about the situation. Such tactics are more appropriate in kindergartens than in international affairs.

The Constitutional Convention is for the most part composed of level-headed men, but it was inevitable that a few intellectual light weights should be elected delegates. If these latter had their way the new Constitution would cover every subject of human interest and make it necessary to pass an amendment every time the State desired to change its policy in any particular. A sample of the foolish propositions now before the Convention is a plan to take a census of cigarette smokers in the prisons and thus get an excuse for making cigarette smoking unconstitutional. In some of the Western States they have constitutions regulating the length of bed sheets and doing many other things which might better be attended to through statute, but New York is not likely to follow their example. Nothing should be put in any Constitution which can safely be left out.

As our readers know, we have never taken much stock in the stories of German atrocities in Belgium. While we have never doubted that there were blacklegs in the German army, the same as in all armies, it seemed incredible that the accounts of organized brutality could be true. It now appears that we were mistaken. A commission headed by Viscount Bryce and containing lawyers accustomed to weigh evidence and who have an unimpeachable reputation for truthfulness has made a report of its investigations during several months. It did not consider hearsay evidence or unsupported testimony. Its conclusions are expressed in dignified language free from passion. It finds that in many parts of Belgium there was "deliberate and systematic organized massacres of the civil population," that "innocent civilians, both men and women, were murdered in large numbers, women violated and children murdered," that "looting, house-burning and the wanton destruction of property were ordered and countenanced by the officers of the German army," that "elaborate provision had been made for systematic incendiarism at the very outbreak of the war," that women and children were used as shields by advancing soldiers, that the wounded and prisoners were sometimes killed, and so on. It is a terrible indictment. Some of the evidence is so shocking for a newspaper to print. Further comment is unnecessary.

There is doubtless some basis for the report that Government officials at Washington are seriously considering the propriety of expelling the German emissary, Dr. Dernburg, from this country, and of prosecuting five or six newspapers which have followed his lead in attempting to justify the Lusitania massacre. Dernburg is certainly an undesirable alien, and this is the opinion of German sympathizers as well as of other people. Of late he has become a public nuisance of the first rank and everybody would be glad to see him go. The newspapers in question, it appears, can be reached under provisions of the Penal Code, which make it a crime to send through the mails matter "tending to incite murder, arson or assassination." It seems to us that it would be a mistake to take any action along these lines. One of our institutions which is most dear to us is the right of free speech and of a free press. It is better to ignore abuses of this privilege when possible than to establish precedents which will be extended in years to come. "Dernburg is cooking his own goose as fast as he can," as one official says, and his brutal talk is without influence. As for the offending newspapers, the reading public will take care of them. They will be unable to obtain any circulation among decent men, which means loss of advertising patronage and early death. It is a credit to the American press that out of twenty thousand newspapers only five or six have expressed sympathy with outrage and massacre.

A CHANGE OF SCENE.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Last week a little crowd of walkers tramped over the hills for a vision of new pastures and scenes that were strange, but we lost our bearings and wandered into the sand plains. At first, novelty and interest were enlivening, but as the sand grew deeper and the sun grew hotter, sundry other very, very objectionable features bore down upon us, and each declared the tramp was the "worst ever."

But with sand sifted from shoes, heat fading from memory and those other bad features passing away, there is left something for the mind to dwell upon; and that very feature made the walk worth while. If trees had tempered the heat of the sun and if velvety grass had replaced the changeless sand—well, they are mighty attractive, but we had walked in beauty-spots before, but never in a desert.

One cannot always plan a walk through new territory, but when it can be, there is twice the charm in the newness of it all, for we are closely akin to children. From the restless days of childhood to the still restless age when we ought to be settled and quiet, but cannot, we are always looking for "something different" to put a new tinge of color on what seems like the drab of everyday existence.

If the new tinge can be coaxed somehow and we still maintain the even balance of things, let us accept it wherever we can in the name of freshened vitality and enlarged vision. For we do grow a-weary sometimes and want a change of thought and a shifting of activities.

One was rather impressed a year or so ago just reading about a lovely young Austrian—Countess Bettina de Miremont—who forever renounced the fascinations of the social whirl for the excitement attendant upon life as a public performer at the Nouveau Cirque in Paris. For one kept wondering whether it was the craving for a change that induced her to give up so much for so little or whether it was, as her friends declared, only a regrettable eccentricity.

As for the countess, who was said to be all that is beautiful and fascinating, she explained the spectacular drop from social queen to circus performer by stating that the usual round of parties and balls and receptions had come to be burdensome. New gowns, fresh amusements and added social conquests bored and never thrilled her, while the lure of the circus field, her beautiful horses and the feast of admiration had all the charm of novelty—perhaps they were new for a while.

And as one read all about her, it seemed rather a pity that the countess could not actually have changed places with one of the performers whose art was urged along by necessity, and while the favorite of fortune took her place in the ring, let the little professional woman have a taste of life as the countess lived it. Which would sooner have developed a craving for old friends, old occupations, old luxuries—even old ennui?

In the long summer days, one feels the need of a change rather more, because there is so much to be done away, so much to make one grow weary. Can you guess how strong the lure must be when you see a woman start out with a little army of eager children, all in freshest white, faces shining as soap and water can make them, all bound for a holiday and all representing a lot of her work? Does she pay rather dearly for her pleasures, or is the change compensation sufficient?

Often when one sees a string of tired little folk, marshaled by a more tired woman, returning by trolley from a day's outing, one wonders at her courage and hopes that on the morrow new thoughts and different memories may make her forget that she had to work rather hard for her brief glimpse of other scenes and "pastures new."

Weariness of society, bored by amusement, sick of subscribing to the conventionalities, one woman drops it all and speeds away to a circus life.

Tired of work, longing for friends, diversions and a rare taste of luxury, another sighs and wishes she might enjoy a fine life of ease. And you and I? Well, it is human to want a change, and we will be broadened, brightened and bettered if the coming summer long we take advantage of every opportunity to play and skip away for a look at strange scenes and strange faces and a breath of stranger air.

"I want to ask your consent to my marriage with your daughter," said the formal youth. "Young man," replied Mr. Cumrox, "don't you bother me with any more such talk. If you and Gwendolin get married, it's her and mother's doings and I don't want to be brought into it. I'm tired of being held responsible for every kind of trouble that comes up in this family."—Washington Star.

The Bright Side.

Representative Gardner, replying to a defender of America's armaments, said in Washington: "Oh, yes, of course; there's a bright side to everything. There are few situations wherein you can't find something bright."

"Would you marry a spendthrift?" one girl asked another. "Well," was the pensive reply, "it wouldn't be so bad if he was just starting out on his prodigal course, would it?"—Washington Star.

His One Wish.

Brown is a melancholy soul. Rumor hath it that once he was crossed in love. At any rate, he is usually pessimistic about things in general and always particular as to what he eats.

The other day he went into a restaurant, and having scanned the luncheon menu, said to the waiter: "I see you have some calves' hearts."

"Yes, sir—yes, sir," agreed the waiter, busily picking crumbs from the tablecloth.

"Well, how about it?" continued Brown. "Are they tender?"

"Yes, sir," declared the waiter. "Beautifully tender!"

"Then bring me some," he said. "If there is in the world such a thing as a tender heart, I want it."—New York Call.

Emptied the House.

"There we were, a big audience in the house and the back of the stage on fire," said the vaudeville manager. "Mercy! What did you do?" asked Slithers. "Why," said the manager, "I went out before the curtain and announced an extra Mr. Harrison Von Boob had volunteered to tell the audience the story of how he got from San Marco to London after the war broke out, and in just three minutes there wasn't a soul left in the house!"—Judge.

Preferred the Peacock.

The first woman ever to run a sewing machine—Miss Elizabeth Kilbourne of Winsted, Conn.—has just died at the age of 86.

Miss Kilbourne was a friend of Elias Howe, the ill-fated inventor of the sewing machine. She used to repeat Howe's complaints about the world's apathy before his marvelous invention.

"The public is blind to everything new and grand," Howe would say. "The public reminds me of Dugald Donald of Peebles."

"Dugald and a friend toured America, and duly reached Niagara Falls. Angus, the friend, was impressed but Dugald said nothing. He just looked at the falls critically, then yawned, and then reit his cigar."

"Ain't they grand?" said Angus. "Ain't they wonderful?"

"Aye, mon, they are," said Dugald. "But hoo about the auld peacock at Peebles that has the wooden leg?"—Boston Post.

A Long Stretch.

A very stout lady, with a considerable nature, had cultivated the habit of buying two seats when she proposed to visit a theater. In this manner she always hoped to remain in comfort without annoying anyone by oversteering.

On one occasion she handed an attendant two tickets as usual. The attendant scrutinized them, then looked at her.

"Who is going to occupy the other seat, madam?"

"I am going to occupy them both," retorted the lady, indignantly. "Very good, madam, but the seats are on each side of the aisle!"—Philadelphia Record.

Tompkins Surrendered.

Highland, N. Y., May 10, 1915. The piece about Edward Tompkins in the paper May 4, 1915, I wish to have contradicted as he did not live in any cave nor his relatives and friends did not feed him in the night, nor the sheriff did not arrest him. He came back from Livingston Manor where he had a job to work and was persuaded by his brother-in-law to return and serve his time. They were notified to come and get him and his brother-in-law accompanied him back to Kingston.

A Death Shadow

By F. A. MITCHEL.

An officer of the Belgian army was summoned before the king. They were in Flanders, and the Belgians constituted the tip of the left wing of the allied army.

"Captain," said the king, "I wish you to carry a message to the commander of the nearest British troops south of us. Go on foot and on the beach. The distance is short, but is full of danger. You will be as safe on the edge of the water as anywhere. We are not in touch with our allies, but there is no fear of any force pushing into the gap for our rear is defended by the channel. Your danger will come simply from any reconnoitering or other small force that you may happen to meet."

The captain took the message, rolled in a ball the size of a small pill, put it in the lining of his hat, saluted and departed. The hour was dusk. In the eastern sky was a moon in the first quarter. The beach was broad, and the officer walked midway between the line of foam and the dunes.

Was that his shadow down at his left and a trifle in advance of him? No. A shadow must lie in a line with the light interrupted. This one formed an obtuse angle with his body and the moon.

Was it a shadow? It was so faint that he could not tell.

There was a moaning sound to the waves that were washing over a bar not far from the shore. The wind was chilly, and the captain felt a corresponding chill in his heart. He did not like that dark spot or shadow or whatever it was. He looked down on the hard sand to his left. It was there, barely distinguishable, but surely there. He looked up at the moon. The dark spot surely could not be made by the moon, for it would be behind him, whereas this was slightly in front of him. He looked at the planet Venus and saw that it was covered at the time by a haze. He cast his eyes again down at his feet, hoping that the dark spot had disappeared. It was still there.

To the south were the lights of a camp; how far he could not tell. That camp was his goal. He wished himself safely there. At night one cannot readily measure distances, and he could not tell whether the lights were far or near. He longed to reach them to escape that intolerable loneliness which weighed upon him.

He knew that at any moment he might receive a shot in the back or from the front. If it came it would come from the dunes on his left, not from the water. He cast occasional glances in the former direction, turning his head to the rear to see if he was followed. He thought he saw a dark something like the figure of a man against the sky line behind him. If it was a man he was soon in hiding, for it passed into the dark dune.

He edged down to the verge of the water and walked almost in the foam. The sand was wet and reflected the light of the moon. Beyond were the lights, slowly growing more distinct as he advanced. Usually there was at night desultory firing, not so far from the shore but that it could be heard. Tonight there was absolute silence of war. There was the moaning of the waves on the bar, with their nearer roar on the beach. This was all.

But that dark spot. It would not go away. The captain tried hard to convince himself that there was no such thing there. He could not. He saw it. Of that he was sure. But it was so faint that he could not always see it. At any rate, he looked at it, concentrating his gaze upon it, till it seemed to fade away. But when he had rested his eyes and looked again there it was.

And now the lights of the camp are so near that another ten or fifteen minutes will surely bring him there. The dunes where he looked for danger had flattened, and what rise there was had receded. The sky line was visible, and he could have seen even a crouching figure. But he saw none. A breeze stirred some low weed or bush and sent his heart to beating, but in another moment he saw that it was not a man.

A short distance from the camp he came to a place where reeds grew out of a marshy spot just above the foam line. He must go to the left of them. Scouting danger wherever there was a possibility of it lurking, he gave it a wide berth, passing a hundred yards to the left of it. After leaving it behind him, looking down, he saw that the black spot was directly in line with the reeds. It seemed to him as he walked that the spot advanced, keeping in line with his body and the reeds.

Suddenly he felt his legs giving way under him. He fell headlong on the sand, gasped and died.

A figure with a rifle rose up from among the reeds and advanced toward the body. Turning it over with his foot, he looked down into the marble face and upon the uniform and, muttering "Belgian," turned away and sought a German camp not far inland. At the same time a dark cloud covered the moon.

Was that the captain saw the shadow of death? Who can tell? There are more things brought out by war psychology, when men's minds and nerves are strained to the utmost, than we can tell. Many a man who meets his death in the red horror of battle has a gruesome foreboding of his approaching fate. This has been proved in many former wars.

Let Nomordust Protect Your Home

Dust is the home of disease germs, and every time you spread this dust by sweeping they fill the air. Much sickness is caused in this way.

There is a new way to sweep, however, without raising dust, and all doctors who know it endorse it.

You simply spread a powder called Nomordust across the room, then sweep it ahead of you as you go. Not a particle of dust will arise.

No need for a dusting cap with Nomordust—no need of covering your ornaments—in fact, you can dust them before you sweep, then leave them exposed and they'll be as clean as before you started.

Nomordust is a great time and labor saver. You can clean any room in half the time it now takes and you only have to sweep half as often, because you get your rooms so much cleaner each time. Makes rugs look like new—equally good for wood floors and linoleums.

Take the advice of physicians, collect the dust—don't spread it—particularly if you have children, for they are most easily affected by germs.

Get a 10c can of Nomordust to-day and try it. Money back if not more than pleased.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, May 13.—The reception at the first M. E. Church last Friday evening for the new pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Coddington, was a very pleasant social event. Members of the church and congregation were present in large numbers. The pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Rev. G. H. Schofield, mother and sister were present to participate in the social intercourse that preceded the short speech making and music. In the receiving line was Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feeter, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitley and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Decker. The people were all introduced and extended greetings to the new pastor and wife. Mrs. Decker, president of the auxiliary, welcomed Rev. and Mrs. Coddington to the church and community and wished for them success in work here. She then called upon Rev. G. H. Schofield, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, who gave a fine address and expressed his pleasure for co-operation and unity. J. C. Coddington responded beautifully and gave expressions of pleasure and cordial welcome and greetings. Then followed interesting remarks by W. E. Wilcox, Dr. Gause and Dr. Becker. Miss Ethel Wilcox gave two vocal numbers in her usual pleasing manner. Mrs. Kelsey Staples, piano, and Miss Beside Dickerson, violin, delighted all with their music and Alma Rhoades and Doretta Gedney gave a four hand selection which was pleasing. Mr. and Mrs. Querel of Richmond, Va., were guests of the pastor and wife, and Mrs. Querel gave two fine recitations. She is a teacher of dramatic art and her selections gave evidence that she is a very competent and up to date person. These were greatly appreciated. A social time was enjoyed at the close of the program and the ladies served refreshments, which were greatly appreciated and late all left with pleasant memories of the reception at the M. E. Church.

Mrs. B. A. Reynolds was hostess Monday evening last to the Queen Esther Circle. There was a large number present and they passed a very pleasant evening in regard to work and social activities.

Tuesday evening the Metcalf home was opened for a meeting of the Sunday school board. Mr. Metcalf is the superintendent of the first M. E. Sunday School and as their leader is very enthusiastic. That spirit certainly will be manifest among teachers and scholars. The membership is very large and a great deal of good is being done and the social life cannot exist apart from the spiritual. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant and profitable evening was spent on Vineyard avenue with the Metcalfs.

Harold Lent was in Newburgh on Tuesday, attending to legal affairs in their office, as the Lents have a business office there as well as in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilcox had as their guest for the week end their daughter, Miss Ethel, of New York city.

Boy Scouts and guests, the Camp Fire Girls, had a jolly time last Saturday. The Scouts celebrated their first anniversary. Quite a number were present. The young people enjoyed games and refreshments were served and when they left all thought it was fine to belong to the Scout and Camp Fire organizations.

Mrs. A. Freer had as her guest the past week her daughter, Mrs. Fred Miller, of New York city.

Mrs. Alfred Hopper and daughter, Mrs. Schumacher, were shoppers in Poughkeepsie on Monday.

Lawyer A. D. Lent was a business caller in Poughkeepsie the past week.

Mrs. Gandy and Miss Patten, Mrs. Edward Miller and Mrs. Keller and Mrs. R. H. Decker and Theron DuBois were among the Poughkeepsie throng last Monday.

Mrs. Frank Van Wert of Maple avenue was a guest of relatives in Poughkeepsie last week.

Mrs. Emma Keller of Kingston was a guest the past week of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittaker have had relatives visiting them the past week from Kingston.

Mrs. M. A. Stome has been entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Sanford, who has been a resident of Michigan for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feeter have been in New York city a few days the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitmore of this place entertained their daughter from Arlington last Sunday.

Capt. R. H. Decker was a business visitor in Poughkeepsie last Wednesday.

Mrs. Maud Adams is out of town for a week. She is looking after her new house being erected in New London. She is going to have a fine one.

Daughters of America held their regular meeting in K. of P. Hall last Wednesday evening, and the members held a very delightful meeting. Mr. Van Kleef of Poughkeepsie was present and helped out with the initiation. There were five candidates. The degree team did their work very nicely, the candidates being favorably impressed. This organization seems to be going on the road to fast gain of members, it being a benefit order we think helps out. All secret orders require indomitable perseverance, study, practice and energy that will lead to a thorough knowledge of the work. Anyone who loves their work will put their heart in it. There seems to be a spirit of fraternity, which is forming a chain of patriotism, and all are glad to work under the glorious flag and thankful that we are Americans. At the next meeting another candidate will go through the mystic work. Ice cream and cake was served at the close of the work, and everyone declared there was much good accomplished through the D. of A. order.

Mr. and Mrs. Jere Miller of Poughkeepsie were guests of relatives in this place last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Terpening motored to Milton and Marlborough last Sunday, calling on friends.

We understand Livingston Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades, of Milton avenue, will soon leave here to accept a position in Walden.

Junior League held a very interesting and impressive service Sunday afternoon in the M. E. Church at 2:30 o'clock. It was a Mother's Day service, and there were a good many present, and all were delighted with the exercise.

Mr. Ford, the automobile manufacturer from Detroit, paid Highland people a visit last week. He is a very pleasant man, and one who is well qualified for his business.

Mrs. L. Sutton spent a few days in Clintondale last week.

There are at present many cases of measles and scarlet fever here. People cannot be too careful in regard to these diseases.

A. W. Lent was in Kingston on legal business one day last week.

The U. D. Society were the guests of Mrs. Philip Wilklow on Milton avenue Saturday afternoon last.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Starr and Mr. and Mrs. H. Pratt are at home now. They spent a few days last week in New York city, shopping and sightseeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Rhoades had as their guests the past week the Rev. and Mrs. William Wilcox, formerly of Freedom Plains. They are to take up their home in Baltimore. Many friends regret their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilcox have returned after spending a few days most delightfully with Mr. and Mrs. Bickert of Hudson.

Mrs. L. K. Malloch spent last Thursday in Kingston.

Mrs. J. W. Feeter spent some time in Poughkeepsie last week.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Coddington entertained guests from Richmond, Va., for several days. These people attended the reception given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Coddington last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Pratt were shoppers in the metropolis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Carpenter spent some time in New York city last week on business.

Miss Elizabeth Donovan of Milton spent Friday in town with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Donovan.

The Rev. and Mrs. Coddington had their eldest daughter with them for a few days last week. She is in Goshen in high school there and after the close of the term she, in the fall, will enter the high school here.

She attended the reception last Friday evening in this place, given in honor of her parents.

J. Smedes put a slate roof on a house in West Park last week. Joe is a good workman and is kept busy.

Mrs. Lloyd Plass and Mrs. Charles DuBois were week end guests of their sister, Miss Ethel Decker, at Ossining. They all enjoyed shopping in New York and also had the pleasure of a good play, which they enjoyed and appreciated the opportunity of the city to see some good talent displayed.

Miss J. MacDonald and Miss Janet Morrison, two of our teachers, spent the week end pleasantly in Red Hook.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brown of Vineyard avenue entertained their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leonard, of New York, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller had guests from Newburgh last Sunday.

Mrs. Lent of Milton avenue was a guest of friends at Vassar College one day last week.

Suffrage work is still on the improve. They hold meetings afternoons and evenings at their rooms on Main street.

Miss Edna Eckert of Wilcox avenue is ill at her home. All hope for her speedy recovery.

Mr. Gerlick was taken suddenly ill Wednesday morning. Dr. Blakely is the attending physician. An attack of indigestion was the cause of the illness.

Miss Bruyn will be in Kingston this week attending a convention.

Dr. and Mrs. Blakely attended the Mendelssohn concert in Kingston on Wednesday evening.

Epworth League held their regular business meeting Friday evening. The election of officers for the ensuing year took place.

Mrs. R. H. Decker has a special invitation for a visit at Catskill Chapter, O. E. S., Tuesday evening, May 18. She also has dates for 9th and 10th districts.

The Almanac Trust.
The sale of almanacs was once a lucrative monopoly. Queen Elizabeth granted the sole right to publish "almanacs and prognostications" to the Stationers' company, and James I. extended the privilege to the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, but for centuries only these three bodies were permitted to issue printed calendars. The monopoly ended when the claim of the king to the privileges of granting or withholding permission to issue calendars—a survival, perhaps, from days when kings asserted their right to regulate all things, including even the times and seasons—was definitely disproved and proclaimed nonexistent. Now anybody can say who's who anywhere.—London Spectator.

Munchausen.
"The Travels of Baron Munchausen," as we have them, are a compound from a great variety of sources. The first installment, which professes to be based on the real baron's own tales, is scarcely a quarter of the whole, and even this has been traced in great part to various German, Italian and Portuguese origins. Afterward the author cribbed avowedly from Lucian and added a second volume intended as a satire on Bruce's "Travels." Most of the early editions were entitled "Gulliver Revived; or, the Vice of Lying Properly Exposed."—London Tatler.

How It Works Out.
"I'll never forget the favor you have done me," said the man who doesn't mind asking for what he wants. "Don't say that," replied the cold blooded person. "When a man keeps brooding over an obligation he's almost sure to get resentful instead of appreciative."—Washington Star.

He Was.
"Jane, what time is it?" called down the irate father. "I don't know, pa. The clock isn't going." "But I am," spoke up the young man, who could take a hint.—Detroit Free Press.

An Arctic Bunk House.
A "bunk" house is an arctic hotel made of logs, with moss chimneys, a dirt roof and a dirt floor. A great sheet iron stove keeps it warm. Two rows of bunks covered with grass or brush extend along the walls. The old fashioned string and latch hold the whip saved door closed, and there is a place to cook the meals. To stay overnight costs a dollar.

Empty Headed.
Mr. Bore—I don't see why people keep diaries, do you? Miss Lenore—Why, to write down their thoughts, keep a record of their affairs and—Mr. Bore interrupting her—But that's all foolishness. I can keep those in my head. Miss Lenore—That's a very good way; but, then, not everybody has the room.—Judge.

Vegetable Leather.
The Japanese grow a plant which furnishes a sort of vegetable leather. It is a pretty shrub called the "mitsumata," and its inner bark, after going through certain processes, is converted into a substance as tough as French kid, so translucent that one can almost see through it and as pliable and soft as calfskin.

PERFECTION.
He who boasts of being perfect is perfect in folly. I never saw a perfect man. Every rose has its thorns and every day its night. Even the sun shows spots, and the skies are darkened with clouds. And faults of some kind nestle in every bosom.—Spurgeon.

Home, Sweet Home.
Wife—What, going out again to-night? Husband—Yes, dear. Going out occasionally, you know, heightens the pleasure of staying home when one gets a chance to. Wife—But you go out so often. Husband—Well, it's a pleasure that really requires a great deal of heightening.—Boston Transcript.

Rather Offended.
"I like acting with spirit to it," said the great star, "but that girl has too much spirit to suit me."
"How so?"
"In the third act she is supposed to resist my kissing her, and the vim she puts into it is far from flattering to my personal pride."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SKILL OF THE BEAVER.

As a Canal Digger He is an Engineer of Rare Ability.

According to a legend, the beaver is supposed to be a reincarnation of man, put back on earth to expiate past offenses by work, and in some of the early drawings it is depicted with the face of a man. And when we consider its extraordinary intelligence and skill as woodcutter, engineer (dam and canal maker), house builder and food storer the notion does not seem at all farfetched. Describing the canals which the animals make by scooping out the earth with their hands, A. R. Dugmore in the "Romance of the Beaver" remarks:

"It might be presumed that these canals are only run through level country, but here is the greatest evidence of the engineering ability of the beaver: They build their canals uphill by means of weirs or dams, the distance between them varying according to the gradient. Yet they never work uphill unless it is made absolutely necessary by the contour of the land. The width of these canals is usually about three feet, with a depth from one to three feet, seldom deeper except when small pools are made, evidently with the idea of providing a hiding place in the event of danger. The direction of the canals must necessarily be variable. Wherever conditions are favorable they are as straight as though laid out by human engineers, but when there is any advantage to be gained by curves they make curves."

Kill the Fly Before He Rises From His Filthy Bed

THE favorite breeding place of flies is the manure pile. The great majority of these pesky, dangerous insects come into life in our stable waste.

Until recently there was no simple, efficient and inexpensive method known whereby maggot life (the early stage of fly life) could be destroyed in manure without injuring the fertilizing value of the manure. Paris green in watery solution—one pound to twenty-five gallons of water—appears to be the solution of the problem. It proves to be highly efficient as a maggot killer. Take a common garden watering can, fill it with water, add a teaspoonful of paris green and stir until dissolved. Use daily on the manure and you will swat the fly in the most effective way. This weak solution is not dangerous to stock. They would have to eat large quantities of the bedding to be affected. However, the solution should be kept out of the reach of children. Remember, the most effective way to swat the fly is to swat it before it is born.

GUN AND DEAD SOLDIERS.

Earthquake Shocks.

There are such things as earth waves as well as other waves. But while the other waves have, by the genius of a Marconi, been harnessed into the service of mankind, no scientist has yet discovered any uses for earth waves or even any means of utilizing them.The shock of a seismic disturbance travels in waves at the rate of two miles a second in the actual vicinity of the disturbance, and this rate rapidly diminishes as the distance traveled by the earth waves increases. The deeper the originating movement happens to be the farther the shock travels, but the deeper the movement, on the other hand, the less extensive and usually the less serious, from the point of view of loss of life, is the visible effect on the earth's surface.

A Retiary.

A retiary was the name of a Roman gladiator armed in a peculiar way. He was furnished with a trident and net, with no more covering than a short tunic, and with these implements he endeavored to entangle and dispatch
his adversary, who was called a secutor (from sequel, to follow) and was armed with a helmet, a shield and a sword. The name of the first is pronounced as it spelled re-shi-ary, the accent on the first syllable.

never forget it; he who does one should never remember it.—Charron.

Paint Better

Better isn't enough; paint best.
A man bought "cheap" paint; saved 20 or 30 or 40 or 50c a gallon;
didn't he?Yes, and bought 40 or 50 or 60 or 80 per cent more gallons; how much did he make on his paint?And he paid for painting those gallons—a fair day's work is a gallon—how much did he make on the labor part of his job?He lost a quarter or third of his money.How long will it last? Not his money, the paint?Perhaps half as long as Devoe.
How long will his money last if he buys other stuff as he bought that paint?Better buy the best paint; it makes the least bill and least-often.

MENDELSSOHN CLUB
ARTISTIC CONCERTThe popularity of the Mendelssohn Club concerts was again attested on Wednesday evening, when the spacious and beautiful auditorium of the High School, seating over eleven hundred people was filled to its capacity with a brilliant and enthusiastic audience, guests of the Mendelssohn Club men. This was their thirteenth annual complimentary concert, and it is safe to say, that from an artistic standpoint it was the best concert that the club has given. The club was assisted by the Manhattan Ladies' Quartet of New York, composed of Irene Cummings, first soprano; Isabel Thorpe, second soprano; Grace Duncan, first alto; and Anna Winkopp, second alto; and by Joseph Mathieu, tenor, of New York.The program as presented by the society, under the conductorship of Charles M. Eastmead, and finely accompanied by Emil F. Kuehn, was in itself particularly pleasing. The handsome and classic stage was made especially attractive with groups of palms from the Burgevin conservatories.The program opened with a charming little musical prelude, "Oh, Mystic Music; Subtle Art," in which the club invoked the muse of music for the evening's performance, while the first regular number was "March of the Men of Harlech," by John Hyatt Brewer. The words of this Welsh national hymn are stirring and the music to which they are set makes of this number a fine piece of inspirational music. The lighter passages were especially well sung, and the signers brought the work to an excellent climax. The quality of tone and shading in the "Kyrie at Sea," by Joh. Durner, was excellent and throughout the entire program the enunciation of the singers was refreshingly clean cut. Both numbers were enthusiastically applauded.The Manhattan Ladies' Quartet delighted the audience by their very appearance, and charmed them still more with their singing. While each voice was fine, the solos were especially rich and the tonal effect of the quartet was quite unusual in its bell-like quality and richness. Then, too, they sang with artistic finish, their first number being "Song and Echo," by Renger. Applauded most warmly they gave a clever little encore and on their return to the footlights were presented each with a huge armful of American Beauty roses, which were exceedingly picturesque against the handsome green satin, crystal-headed-net draped gowns.Two numbers, that great favorite,
"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," by Foster-Spicer, and the pleasing melody, "A Man and a Maid," by Charles P. Scott, were next sung by the club and showed the marked progress in expressive interpretation which the club has made since its last concert. The pianissimo passage with which the first number opened and its delicacy thoroughly delighted all. The old-time melodies, brought out in the medley called for a versatility of expression which was well met and the phrasing was excellent, making this one of the particularly enjoyable numbers of the program.Art of whatever sort is the ability to portray some phase of human life and feeling or of nature with such accuracy as to photograph the same on the mind and heart of the hearer or beholder. According to such a definition, and without saying more of his technique than that it was adequate to the demands of his art, Joseph Mathieu, tenor, showed himself an artist last evening. He possessed a very musical lyric voice and the power to express that which for-emotion tinged with pathos or even tragedy. His first number, "The Spirit Flower," by Campbell-Tipton, a wondrous and lovely song, at once won his audience and he grew increasingly in favor as he sang Del Rio's
"The Green Hills of Ireland," and Sproule's "I Love and the World is Mine." In his encore number, "The Humble Home," by Sidney Homer, a most touching plantation song, he touched the heart-strings of his listeners.The most ambitious number of the evening was "The Genius of Music,"
by Herman Mohr, sung by Miss Irene Cummings, soprano, and the club.
The elaborate instrumental introduction was admirably played by Mr.
Kuehn, and the brilliant composition, well sung by both the soprano and chorus, was especially good in its phrasing and shading and received prolonged applause.Part two of the program opened with a piquant, musical setting of "Comin' Thro' the Rye," by Root, sung charmingly by the Ladies' Quartet. For an encore they sang "Kentucky Babe," the second alto giving an amusingly clever imitation of the banjo accompaniment.One of the very best numbers on the entire program was "Winter Song," by Bullard, sung by the Men-delsohn Club with spirit and zest, and a fine appreciation of this warm and vivid tone picture. This is essentially a man's song and it rang clear and true.Mr. Mathieu made his last solo appearance in a group of songs, "Ah, Love Be a Day," by Protheros; two little Irish songs, "To My First Love," and "You'd Better Ask Me," by Lohr; and "Heigh Ho," by Burleigh. The first was sung with fine dramatic effect, and the grace and quaint humor of the two little Irish songs were charmingly portrayed by the singer, who gave as an encore to the group the humorous little bit of song, "Too Wet to Woo."An almost breathless stillness pervaded the big audience as the club sang "The Land o' the Leal," arranged by H. Elliott Button, with exceptional delicacy and tenderness of feeling. No number of the entire evening was more delightful than the Barcarolle, "Beauteous Night," from "The Tales of Hoffman," Offenbach-Carter, sung by the club and Mr. Mathieu. The graceful rhythm, the rich harmonic effects, and the artistic closing phrase so fascinated the audience that the number was repeated to the gratification of all.The Manhattan Ladies' Quartet gave as their final number, "The Nightingale, A Serenade," and sangit so admirably that they were given an emphatic recall. To this they responded with an arrangement of "The Rosary," which was sung with an admirable musicianship and dignity of expression.The most enjoyable evening was brought to a close with Chadwick's virile, forceful "Song of the Viking," sung by the club, which together with Conductor Eastmead, received the most cordial applause.The officers and members of the club are as follows:Officers.—Elmer A. Burger, president; Dr. Cornelius H. Bishop, vice president; Elmer E. Eastmead, secretary; Ward B. Everett, treasurer.Active members.—First tenors:

WOMEN DRILLED WAIT CALL TO ARMS.

"If international complications should arise that would make a call to arms necessary, woman may be counted upon to do some of the fighting." So spoke Mrs. G. Hungerford Millbank, head of the International Order of Military Women, who has been drilling 150 women in the Fourteenth Regiment Armory of Brooklyn.

"If war should come, we are ready to shoulder guns and go to the front to defend the honor of our nation," Mrs. Millbank explained.

Mrs. Millbank said the local Order of Military Women is known as the Columbians. She said the military order was registered in Albany. "Otherwise," said Mrs. Millbank, "we should not be permitted to use the armories for drill work."

These women warriors have adopted a uniform all their own. It is composed of khaki short skirt and belted coat, boots, and the regulation National Guard cap.

ANCIENT MEDICAL SKILL.

Peru Had Clever Physicians and Surgeons Ages Ago.

Both cocaine and quinine were first discovered and used by the prehistoric inhabitants of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia. A cup made from the wood of the tree yielding quinine was filled with water and allowed to stand overnight. In the morning the liquid had become saturated with the medicinal properties possessed by the wood and its bitter contents were drunk. The quassia cups sold in drug stores in this country during the past century were the early method used to administer quinine.

The leaf from the tree giving cocaine is chewed today by the Indians living in the mountainous districts of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia. It acts as a heart stimulant in those high altitudes and deadens the pangs of hunger so frequently felt by the half starved natives.

The Chumus, who lived in Peru, according to some authorities, 2500 years before Christ and whose dominions extended into Bolivia, Ecuador and parts of Brazil and Colombia, had a pharmacopoeia of their own. Most of the articles used by them as medicines aeons ago are used by the physician of today. Their surgeons were highly skilled too. I have seen skulls dug up in their old cemeteries that showed their owners during life had been injured many times in battle by blunt instruments, presumably clubs, and their lives had been saved by trephining. I recall one skull

The Dorcas Society will be entertained by Miss Cleon Ellsworth tomorrow evening at her home on Broadway.

WALKKILL.

Walkkill, May 13.—Thursday of last week John Kline moved his family and household effects from the flat over the library into the house formerly occupied by James Oxy.

Charles Brach had a very painful and serious accident on Friday night. Thinking a shower was coming Mr. Brach arose to close a window in his room on the second floor of his home, which opened to the floor. In the dark he was unable to find the window until he fell through the opening, a distance of 16 feet. His injuries may prove to be very serious, having struck his neck and back.

Frank Marcinkowski, who has been employed for four years in the depot, is to be transferred to Highland Falls. This is the same place where Houghtaling was recently murdered.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse of Poughkeepsie are spending some time at the home of Mrs. Nellie Ross.

Prof. Goewey took a party to Patterson in his car on Tuesday afternoon to hear Billy Sunday.

George Decker, our popular insurance agent, has purchased a Ford car. Several in this place are contemplating purchasing in the near future.

James Kane has been having his house on Bridge street painted. It is rumored E. B. DuBoise will open up an up to date garage in this village equipped with auto accessories and a first class mechanic.

James Oxy has resumed his former employment with W. V. Deyo.

W. Young returned on Tuesday evening in his honeymoon with his bride. Mrs. Young is a sister of Ernest Griener of this place.

Hat factory is working on half time. It is rumored that straw hats will be sent from the Middletown straw shop to be trimmed here.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, May 13.—Arbor Day was appropriately observed at New Hurley school on Friday morning. The program consisted of recitations and songs by the pupils of the school, which were thoroughly appreciated by the visitors present, after which the teacher, Miss Kittle, and the children planted some trees and beautified the school grounds.

At the annual school meeting the following officers were elected: Trustee, Frank Booth; clerk, Hallock Sutton; and collector, George Sherwood. Frank S. Schoonmaker was chairman of the meeting.

The Rev. G. C. Dangremont, as delegate, attended the meetings of the particular synod of New York, held at the First Reformed Church at Jamaica, L. I., on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

The funeral of Green Woolsey was largely attended at the church on Thursday afternoon. Interment in New Hurley cemetery.

A very interesting debate held the attention of the Circle, who met at the hospitable home of Ira Merwin on Tuesday evening. As planned by the H's, the subject was: "Resolved, that the U. S. army and navy should be enlarged," the affirmative being taken by the young men, and the negative by the young ladies. The judges, Mr. Merwin, Mr. Rowe and Mr. Dangremont, declared the debate a success, with honors for the negative side. We think President Wilson ought to be informed of this, so that his present attitude and wise judgment may be strengthened and peace maintained.

The Rev. A. L. Berger of Gansevoort, N. Y., former pastor of New Hurley Church, called on several friends here on Tuesday.

Mrs. Kittle of Kingston was a guest of Mrs. J. L. Woolsey a few days last week.

The pipe-organ for the church is being installed and is expected to be ready for use next Sunday morning, when Mr. Riggs, organist of the church at Cold Springs, will preside.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, May 13.—The canal has been cleaned, towpath repaired and water let in.

lawn paths, expect summer guests on May 20. A "kaffee klatch" will be given in All Saints' parish house by the several societies of the Episcopal Church on Monday, May 17. Supper will be served beginning at 5:30 p. m. for 25 cents, and the ladies will serve a most excellent menu. A social evening will follow the supper, and it is hoped that all will remain and spend the evening. Music by Mr. and Mrs. Mottman. The parishioners of St. Peter's Church will give a fine concert on Wednesday evening, May 20, in their hall, with a dance later in the evening, for the benefit of the church, to which they extend a most cordial invitation. The program will be exceptionally fine.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Whiteport.

Miss Mary Kelly has gone to Catskill to spend the summer.

Mrs. Andrew Henze spent Thursday in Kingston with her mother, who is very ill.

The young folks from this place went to the Casino at Rosendale on Saturday night.

Mrs. Peter Forney has returned home after spending several weeks with her parents at Poughkeepsie.

Edward Fagher has been elected trustee at the school meeting last week.

Miss Loretta Connelly spent Saturday with her father.

Arbor Day exercises were held at the Whiteport school. Miss Fanny Cahill, teacher, was assisted by Miss Anna Henze. A very pleasant program with recitations and singing was given by all the scholars, which was enjoyed by those present. Hats off to Miss Cahill.

Mrs. Michael Kelly has purchased a Kroeber piano for her daughters, from W. H. Rider.

Miss Slatia McGrath spent Saturday with Miss Anna Henze.

Mrs. Joe Hartman returned home on Saturday last from her daughter's in Brooklyn, where she has been since last October, undergoing an operation for the removal of cataracts from her eyes. Mrs. Hartman has recovered her sight and is enjoying excellent health.

Mr. DuFon is now on the mail route, while our regular carrier, Mr. Ritch, is on his vacation.

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Rowe Saturday evening, May 8. A most enjoyable time was spent by all. During the evening games were played and dancing was indulged in. At a late hour refreshments were served. Those who were present were the Misses Grace Enlist, Ida Neibergall, Mildred DuBois, Frances Castor, Florence Oakley, Selena Kallaway, Edna Heiser, Jessie DeWitt, Erna Heiser, Anastasia McCarthy, Blanche Rowe, Margaret Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Clavis, Mrs. Heiser, Mrs. Enlist and the Messrs. Sherman Hasbrouck, Edward Wood, Neal LeFever, Delos Smith, Rudolph Beyersdorfer, Joseph McCarthy, Samuel Kallaway, Conrad Hull, Thomas Rowe, Earl Mack, Jack Stingle, Kenneth Heiser, Richard DeWitt. At a late hour the friends departed for home voting Mr. and Mrs. Rowe royal entertainers.

Fourth Binnewater.

Mrs. Louise Lasher and Mrs. Fanny Lasher visited Kingston on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. Cornelius Chambers spent a day in Kingston.

William Robinson and sister returned to their home in Kingston after spending some time with their brother.

We had a very fine meeting at the chapel last Sunday. We had a blind minister from Rosendale and he delivered a very interesting discourse.

Miss Metz, our public school teacher, has promised to give us a very interesting play at the chapel on Friday evening, May 14. She is a very good entertainer. We are sure everyone that can find time to attend will be highly delighted. The program will consist of clever pantomimes, catchy songs and recitations and also an exceedingly clever drill, which when seen will be the delight of all. To wind up there will be rendered a little play of Richard Harding Davis, called "Miss Civilization." Of course there will be ice cream to pass the social hour and the proceeds are for the benefit of the chapel.

Mrs. Kate Deitz and Mrs. Louis Lasher visited Kingston on Monday.

There was a very interesting cottage prayer meeting at Louis Lasher's on Sunday evening.

Next Sunday evening the cottage

CARPENTER TIME

This month of May is indeed carpenter time, for building is on the boom and there are dozens of calls for the carpenter to do odd jobs in the city and in the country and at the shore.

Mr. Job Carpenter, if you have not all the work you think you ought to have, why not try the modern Want Ad method of getting work? It is simple and is sure to work, for the live, up-to-date business men of today read the Wants daily and they will be sure to see your Want Ad, if you will only meet them half way by putting it in the Want Columns at once.

Supreme Court, Ulster County. In the matter of the Voluntary Dissolution of the Ulster County Laundry, Cleaning and Dyeing Company, a corporation.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, May 13.—M. J. Martin was a visitor in Troy yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Snyder of West Bridge street attended the Mendelssohn concert in Kingston on Wednesday evening.

John Taylor has returned from a business trip in the metropolis.

WHEN THE GOAT IS LOOSE.

In baseball, above all games, it is bad policy for a team to let its opponents know that the angora is loose. The Red Sox were the victim of this fatal mistake the other day. When the Yanks began to land on one of their pitchers they went up into the air. Every player on the team seemed to be in the panic, and Bill Carrigan, the manager, showed by his attitude that he felt that everything had gone to pieces. If the Sox had shown less evidence by being shy their nanny, the swiftest of the Yanks, might have ended abruptly. That is one encouraging factor about the Yankees. Wild William Donovan, despite his monicker, is a cool feller. He has his men fighting quietly when the game is going against them. You will never find the Yankee nanny running amuck in a ball park. If Wild William ever loses his goat no one is going to know it.

Merely a Hint.

Evelyn had been instructed by her mother not to ask anyone for a penny. A week ago Evelyn was visiting her aunt, and as her aunt opened her purse to take a nickel to use in the telephone Evelyn, shyly glancing in the purse and seeing one lone penny, remarked that she thought pennies were such a nuisance in a big lady's purse.

POULTRY and EGGS

VALUE OF THE TRAP NEST.

Enables the Poultryman to Know Layers From Drones.

The trap nest is a Yankee notion now in practical use for about twenty years. It is the only method by which the actual layers can be known and the only way to tell the color of their eggs as well as the size and shape. It enables us to find the hen that gives strong fertility and the one that gives poor. It picks out the winter layers; it arrests the egg eater; it prevents broken eggs in the nest; it makes hens tame. It is more profitable to have a dozen selected layers than double the number.

What is now known as the Cockerel was formerly the Shanghai fowl. The Cocker is probably the oldest distinct race of fowls. As a breed they were kept in China in 1840, and probably the first importation was made to this country seven years later. The original of all Cockerins as they came from China were pale or lemon buff, dark red or cinnamon buff and brown or partridge color. Whites and blacks came later. The bird shown is a Buff Cockerel.

ber of doubtful ones. The labor in attending to traps should not exceed ten minutes for fifty nests providing they are conveniently arranged.

A trap nest is a device that allows the hen to enter readily, but which does not permit her to leave until released by the attendant, who makes a note of the number on the band that is placed on her leg. In this way the actual number of eggs to her credit can be ascertained.

But there are more important uses of the traps. We can pick out the hens that lay deformed eggs or those that lay eggs of undesirable shape. We can know which hens give us the best fertility and which the poorest. We can know which hens lay best at the season when eggs command the highest prices, and we can pick out the heavy summer layers. We discover which are the drones, hens that do not pay their board. We are thus able to arrest the egg eater. We catch her right in the act. We have less broken eggs in the nest, generally due to several hens crowding in at one time. We can tell which hens lay the small eggs and which the larger ones. We know how many times individual hens become broody, which hens are the best for incubation and brooding. We know the exact time our pullets started to lay and how regularly they deposited their eggs.

I do not favor trapping the year round. I am more anxious to have strong winter laying than I am year round records. I prefer starting my traps Nov. 1 and discontinue their use May 31.

GROWING GOSLINGS.

Young Birds Must Be Kept Dry Until Backs Are Feathered.

Grass is the most important of foods for young goslings, writes Mrs. E. R. Thomas in the Orange Judd Farmer. I feed stale bread soaked in milk, then squeezed, each day for the first few days, gradually adding cornmeal. At the end of the first week they will eat fine cracked corn. They eat very daintily, preferring grass to all other foods. With their musical chatter they are ready to meet you, take a few mouthfuls of food and then with the same old tune they lazily saunter away in search of more grass or rest. I begin adding ground meat scraps or beef scrap to their cracked corn at about ten days, just a little at first, increasing later. Thus I have prevented leg weakness.

For two or three days I keep the goslings close at home. After that they can be out every day when the dew is off the grass. They must not be allowed to get wet until their backs are well feathered, for they drown easily. Young goslings that get into water or in a hard rain are almost sure to die. Goslings when handled in this way, if from good matured breeders, should weigh one pound for each week of age for the first several weeks.

Make the Hens Work.

A litter of millet thrown among the hen in the scratching shed will often keep the hens busy when nothing else will. Large grains they can find too quickly, and their appetite is soon appeased, but it will take them a long time to pick out enough millet seed to satisfy their craving.

Got Back at Judge Jeffreys.

The correspondent writes that of Lord Jeffreys, noted for his heartless cruelty, it is recorded when he was Chief Justice, he had a witness before him whose evasive answers aroused the judge's ire. The witness wore an exceedingly long and bushy beard. Said Jeffreys: "If your conscience is as large as your beard, you'll swear anything." Unabashed, the witness retorted: "If your lordship measures conscience by beards, your lordship has none at all."

Building Societies Popular.

More than 600,000 people subscribe to the building societies of the United Kingdom of which there are more than 1,600.

But It's No Easy Matter.

Life's best joys are found in living on last month's salary instead of the one for the month just ahead.—Washington Post.

THE YELLOW FLAG.

A Ruse That Once Saved a British Ship From Capture.

An effective ruse de guerre in the way of flag flying was that practiced in the Mediterranean at the beginning of the last century by Lord Dundonald while cruising in the British ship Speedy. This little brig had captured so many of the enemy's merchantmen that a Spanish frigate was specially fitted out, disguised as a merchantman, to bring her to book.

Dundonald, in order to deceive the merchant craft of the enemy, adopted similar tactics and disguised the Speedy as a Danish merchant brig. The two disguised boats soon sighted each other. Dundonald at once gave chase and discovered his mistake when the Spaniard suddenly revealed her true nature and started lowering a boat to examine the Speedy's papers.

But Dundonald was equal to the occasion. He hoisted the yellow flag—signal of sickness. And when the Spanish boat was within half an English officer in Danish uniform shouted that they were only two days out of Algiers. As the plague was raging in Algiers, the ruse was completely successful.—London Chronicle.

Oldest Chess Problem.

The oldest chess problem on record is thought to be that contained in an ancient Persian manuscript attributed to Caliph Kalfen Mutasin Billah, who reigned in Bagdad A. D. 833 to 842. But the reader would have to learn the old rules before it was intelligible. For example, the queen could make a move of only one square at a time and that on a diagonal, but a queen promoted from a pawn was allowed to make a move of two squares diagonally. The bishop had no power over any square except the third from which it stood on its own diagonal line, but it was allowed to vault over any piece that happened to be between. In short, it was a totally different game. Chess in the precise form in which we know it and play it today is a comparatively modern game.—London Strand Magazine.

Misnomers of Chemistry.

One of the strangest features of chemistry is the fact that many of the chemical names are misleading and do not describe the articles. Here are a few examples: Oil of vitriol is no oil, neither are oils of turpentine and kerosene. Copperas is an iron compound and contains no copper.

Salts of lemon is the exceedingly poisonous oxalic acid. Carbolic acid is not an acid, but an alcohol. Cobalt contains none of that metal, but arsenic. Soda water has no trace of soda, nor has sulphuric acid of sulphur. Sugar of lead has no sugar, cream of tartar has nothing of cream, nor milk of lime any milk. German silver has no silver and black lead no lead. Mosaic gold is only a sulphide of tin.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Stopping the Idle Talk.

"Pardon my interrupting you, old chap, but really you're wasting your time."

"What's the matter? Aren't you interested in what I'm saying?"

"Not particularly. Besides, it won't accomplish anything."

"I don't understand you."

"It's no use telling me how your boss ought to run his business. Tell it to him or keep still about it."—Detroit Free Press.

The Handy Shoe Bag.

"Last year one member of the family was unable to be out of bed. I took a shoe bag that had ample pockets and pinned it neatly with safety pins to the side of her bed. In its pockets I put her books and various articles that she needed. Everything was within reach."—Woman's Home Companion.

Distance Lends Enchantment.

The greater the distance between us and the old homestead the more attractive it always seems.

Passing of Youth.

To me the passing of youth was escaping from torment of passion, strife and trouble into a placid content. My griefs and joys grew less violent. I ceased hunting those who had wronged me, and, in lesser degree, grew calmer in my attachments. Undisturbed by passions I found I could think more clearly, be more liberal and understand better.—American Magazine.

Our Liberal Policy Always in Force

The well known firm of Thing & Co. follows strictly the policy of being fair with their customers—in fact, they go further than that, and have always in force a policy so liberal that in reality their customers share in the profits of the concern.

We refer to our premium system by which all buyers get coupons representing the amount of their purchase. These coupons when amounting to five dollars or over are freely exchanged for valuable articles always on display in our Premium dept. Then our "goods exchanged or money back" system is another of our liberal policies and another good reason for "trading at Thing's."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to the Freeman

New York, May 13.—There was moderate selling in many issues at the opening of the stock market this morning, in response to the pronounced interest shown in the uncertain international situation. The supply of stocks was not large and the demand was so small that early transactions generally were made at concessions. Most of these losses were regained before the end of the first 15 minutes, and at the end of that period, some stocks showed material net gains. U. S. Steel Common yielded  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  in the first few minutes and recovered the loss. Utah Copper declined  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  and then rose to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Amalgamated Copper after dropping  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  recovered  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$ , and rallied to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Similar declines and gains were recorded in Erie, Reading, and Southern Pacific. Westinghouse moved up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at the outset to 90. Bethlehem Steel rose  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . The Interborough-Metropolitan issues were in good demand, the common advancing  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ , and the preferred  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Noon.—There was a general downward movement in the late forenoon, many issues making declines of around a point. United States Steel declined one point to  $\frac{3}{4}$  and Utah Copper one point to  $\frac{3}{4}$ . American Can, Consolidated Gas and Standard Oil dropped one point, the latter selling at  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Amalgamated Copper was off  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Mexican Petroleum  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Interborough-Metropolitan preferred one point to  $\frac{3}{4}$  and Crucible Steel  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$ . Money loaning at 2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—Price changes were small and unimportant in the first half of the last hour. Westinghouse sold down to  $\frac{1}{2}$ , against 90 at the opening. A few prices were higher, but for the most part changes took the form of fractional recessions. The stock market closed nervous; governments unchanged, other bonds irregular.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kline, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 100, Correspondent of N. Y. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

The remains of Mrs. Lewis Terhune of Bloomington were brought to Balfour Rural Cemetery on Saturday for burial.

Mrs. C. C. Turner is located in the house opposite David Wood.

TERRA COTTA.

The Ancient Greeks Used It, as Did Also Michaelangelo.

Terra cotta means literally baked earth. It is usually employed as though it meant only architectural ornaments made of baked clay. Yet Michaelangelo made statues of it, the Japanese use it cleverly painted as "imitation bronze" for busts, tea jars and bowls, and the ancient Greek children had terra cotta dolls with movable legs fastened by wooden pegs.

In the trade today pieces of clay work for architectural ornament over eight inches square are called terra cotta. Under that size they are called ornamental brick.

The famous Della Robbia ware of Italy was of terra cotta covered with opaque enamel and painted. England used it much. From the time of Henry VIII. it was popular in large buildings, and since Queen Anne's day it has been used for ornamenting smaller houses.

Terra cotta can be produced in a variety of colors, and, while rains leave stone surfaces dingier, they brighten surfaces made of the clay. It is as durable as stone; it can be produced in more shades and colors; it can be molded into a great variety of designs; it can be given more delicate outlines than stone; it is lighter than stone.—New York Telegram.

CONDORS ROOST HIGH.

They Perch at an Altitude of 15,000 Feet Above the Sea.

There is a splendid specimen of the male condor in a glass case in the bird room of the Children's museum in Brooklyn. Though he stands three and one-half feet high, the spread of his wings is nine feet.

"The condors live throughout the Andes, principally in Chile and Peru. Their favorite haunts are the level of perpetual snow," writes Miss Anna B. Gallup in the Museum News. "During a portion of the year condors roost in the trees on the lower mountain slopes, but in the breeding season (the summer months of November and December) they retire to the most broken and terrible precipices, 10,000 to 15,000 feet above the sea level, where no other creature can dwell. There on a ledge or shelf of rock the female lays two white eggs nearly four inches in length. Sometimes she places a few sticks around them, perhaps to keep them from rolling out of place."

"After about seven weeks, in February or early in March, the young hatch, entirely covered with soft white down, that afterward turns to a brown color.

Trapping Baboons.

Hagenbeck in his book says that baboons are caught in traps made much like the traps of savages. Food is put into the traps, and once the baboons go inside a trapdoor closes behind them. Outside baboons make a great deal of noise and try to get out. When the trappers see the captured baboons are terror stricken and try to force their heads through the walls of the traps. One baboon was caught three times in the same trap, and several when turned loose got back into the same trap a second time. When the baboons are carried away all their comrades thereabout climb into trees and scream out to the prisoners, who answer in sad, mournful voices. On one occasion some big Arabian baboons were trapped, when 2,000 or 3,000 baboons hurried themselves upon the trappers, who had hard work to save themselves with firearms and clubs. As the trappers were forced back the victorious baboons tore up the trap and turned loose the captured baboons.

Raindrops.

Drops of rain vary in their size perhaps from a twenty-fifth to a quarter of an inch in diameter. In passing from the clouds they precipitate their descent all the increasing resistance opposed by the air becomes equal to their weight, when they continue to fall with uniform velocity. This velocity is therefore in a certain ratio to the diameter of the drops; hence thunder and other showers in which the drops are large pour down faster than a drizzling rain. A drop of the twenty-fifth part of an inch in falling through the air would, when it had arrived at its uniform velocity, acquire a celerity of only eleven and a half feet per second, while one of a quarter of an inch would have a velocity of thirty-three and a half feet.

Wily Tailor.

Louis XVIII, complimenting Talleyrand one day upon his abilities, asked him how he had contrived first to overturn the directory and finally Bonaparte.

The wily diplomat replied, with charming simplicity: "Really, sire, I have had nothing to do with this. There is something inexplicable about me which brings ill luck on the governments that neglect me."

Wanted, a Carver.

"You say your son belongs to a corn club?"

"Yes; raised a fine crop last year."

"That ain't the kind of corn expert I want to consult. I want to know what to do for the pesky things."—Pittsburgh Post.

Willing to Do That.

"So your grocer refuses to give you credit for another thing?"

"Not exactly, he says he'll give me credit for any cash I pay on account."—Boston Transcript.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.

CHAP. 135.

AN ACT to amend the state law, relative to the enumeration of the inhabitants of the state.

Enacted March 2, 1915, with the approval of the Governor, Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Article nine of chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the sovereignty, boundaries, survey, great seal and arms of the state, congressional districts, senate districts, and apportionment of the members of assembly of this state, and enumeration of the inhabitants of the state, constituting chapter fifty-seven of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE 9.

Enumeration of the Inhabitants of the State.

Section 140. When enumeration shall be taken.

141. General powers and duties of the secretary of state.

142. Appointment of enumeration supervisors.

143. Compensation of enumeration supervisors.

144. Powers and duties of enumeration supervisors.

145. Enumeration districts.

146. Appointment and qualifications of enumerators.

147. Compensation of enumerators.

148. Oath of enumerators and interpreters.

149. Failure of enumeration supervisors and enumerators to perform duties.

150. Removal of supervisors and enumerators and filling vacancies; amendment of enumeration.

151. Enumeration of Indians.

152. Commencement of enumeration; how enumeration made.

153. Penalty for withholding information or giving false information.

154. Penalty for enumeration supervisor, enumerator or interpreter making false enumeration.

155. Completion of enumeration; penalty for failure to make return.

156. Sheriffs and other officers to assist enumerators.

157. Certificate of secretary of state conclusive evidence.

158. When enumeration shall be taken.

159. Enumeration of the inhabitants of this state shall be taken during the months of May and June, in the year nineteen hundred and fifteen, and in said months every tenth year thereafter.

160. General powers and duties of the secretary of state. The enumeration hereinafter authorized and required shall be taken under the general direction and supervision of the secretary of state. He may designate a deputy or a clerk in his office to take charge of such enumeration. He may in his discretion appoint and employ such additional clerks and assistants as in his opinion are actually necessary to properly perform the duties imposed upon him by this article, and may fix their compensation, provided that the total amount paid therefor shall not exceed the amount appropriated and available for such purpose.

161. Appointment of supervisors and enumerators. The secretary of state shall appoint and commission such additional clerks and assistants as in his opinion are actually necessary to properly perform the duties imposed upon him by this article, and may fix their compensation, provided that the total amount paid therefor shall not exceed the amount appropriated and available for such purpose.

162. Regulations. Adopt, and cause to be printed and distributed to chief enumeration supervisors and enumerators, regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, specifying in detail the methods to be followed in taking such enumeration, prescribing the duties of chief enumeration supervisors and enumerators, and the manner of making and transmitting returns by such officers, and providing generally for the proper enforcement and carrying into effect of the provisions of this article.

163. Blanks and forms. Prepare and cause to be printed and forwarded to chief enumeration supervisors and enumerators, blank schedules, returns, cards, abstracts and other forms as may be required for the use of such supervisors and the enumerators in properly and accurately performing their duties, and transmitting the enumeration herein authorized.

164. Instructions. Prepare and transmit to such supervisors and enumerators printed instructions, and arrange for the information of such supervisors and enumerators. Such instructions shall clearly and explicitly state the general principles to be applied in determining the qualifications of such supervisors and enumerators as to their duties relative to the enumeration of citizens and aliens.

165. Returns. Receive and direct the manner and time of making and transmitting such returns by supervisors and enumerators, and cause such returns to be filed in every tenth year thereafter, to show the number of inhabitants of each village, town, city and county, and the total number of inhabitants in each village, town, city and county, and of the state. He may, if he deems it advisable, cause such tabulation to be made of the inhabitants of the state, and may cause such tabulation to be made of the inhabitants of other political subdivisions of the state.

166. Enumeration districts. The secretary of state shall divide the state into enumeration districts, and shall cause such enumeration districts to be divided into one or more election districts as may be required for the purpose of the general election in the preceding year. But whenever in any city there is a county having more than one senate district, or which in the opinion of the secretary of state shall require more than one senate district, the enumeration districts in such city shall consist of blocks, instead of streets or public ways.

167. The county clerk, board of elections, commissioner of elections or other officer whose duty it is under the election law to provide maps or furnish certificates showing the boundaries of election districts or perform other duties relative to such districts, shall, upon the request of the secretary of state, furnish and transmit such maps and certificates.

168. Appointment and qualifications of enumerators. The secretary of state shall, in the month of April, nineteen hundred and fifteen, and during such period in every tenth year thereafter, shall cause each assembly district to be divided into enumeration districts consisting of one or more election districts as may be required for the purpose of the general election in the preceding year. But whenever in any city there is a county having more than one senate district, or which in the opinion of the secretary of state shall require more than one senate district, the enumeration districts in such city shall consist of blocks, instead of streets or public ways.

169. The county clerk, board of elections, commissioner of elections or other officer whose duty it is under the election law to provide maps or furnish certificates showing the boundaries of election districts or perform other duties relative to such districts, shall, upon the request of the secretary of state, furnish and transmit such maps and certificates.

170. Appointment and qualifications of enumerators. The secretary of state shall, in the month of April, nineteen hundred and fifteen, and during such period in every tenth year thereafter, shall cause each assembly district to be divided into enumeration districts consisting of one or more election districts as may be required for the purpose of the general election in the preceding year. But whenever in any city there is a county having more than one senate district, or which in the opinion of the secretary of state shall require more than one senate district, the enumeration districts in such city shall consist of blocks, instead of streets or public ways.

171. The county clerk, board of elections, commissioner of elections or other officer whose duty it is under the election law to provide maps or furnish certificates showing the boundaries of election districts or perform other duties relative to such districts, shall, upon the request of the secretary of state, furnish and transmit such maps and certificates.

172. Appointment and qualifications of enumerators. The secretary of state shall, in the month of April, nineteen hundred and fifteen, and during such period in every tenth year thereafter, shall cause each assembly district to be divided into enumeration districts consisting of one or more election districts as may be required for the purpose of the general election in the preceding year. But whenever in any city there is a county having more than one senate district, or which in the opinion of the secretary of state shall require more than one senate district, the enumeration districts in such city shall consist of blocks, instead of streets or public ways.

173. The county clerk, board of elections, commissioner of elections or other officer whose duty it is under the election law to provide maps or furnish certificates showing the boundaries of election districts or perform other duties relative to such districts, shall, upon the request of the secretary of state, furnish and transmit such maps and certificates.

174. Appointment and qualifications of enumerators. The secretary of state shall, in the month of April, nineteen hundred and fifteen, and during such period in every tenth year thereafter, shall cause each assembly district to be divided into enumeration districts consisting of one or more election districts as may be required for the purpose of the general election in the preceding year. But whenever in any city there is a county having more than one senate district, or which in the opinion of the secretary of state shall require more than one senate district, the enumeration districts in such city shall consist of blocks, instead of streets or public ways.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 13.—Jess Willard would become one of the most popular champions of many generations past if he would battle with Jim Coffey, "The Dublin Giant," with in the next month.

Of course, a finish bout would be most desirable, but the public clamor for a battle would be silenced if Willard agreed to meet Coffey even in a no-decision bout of ten or twelve rounds.

Coffey today seems to stand head and shoulders above all the other white aspirants. The husky Irishman has been coming along in wonderful style since Billy Gibson took him under his wing and his knockout victory in the third round over Al Reich last week seems to qualify him for a crack at the title.

The dear old public has become accustomed to seeing champions dodge a real fight with a real fighter for a year or so after they grab the title. They've resigned themselves to seeing Willard idle around on the stage and in circles for the next ten or twelve months. It would be a wonderful surprise—and a most agreeable one for them—if Willard busted all precedent and met Coffey.

A 10 round Coffey-Willard bout in New York city would draw the biggest crowd that ever attended a battle in this city. Madison Square Garden probably wouldn't be big enough. The bout would have to be staged in the open. This could be done easily as some of the baseball clubs would donate their parks for such a bout.

Willard would get a guarantee of $10,000 and probably $15,000 for such a bout. That would be in the nature of easy picking. Willard couldn't lose his title through a decision. The only chance he would have to lose out would be for Coffey to slip over a sleep producing punch. Willard's managers say he has a punch proof jaw and heart and that no living man could knock him out under 25 rounds, no matter what a wonder that man would be.

In such a case, Willard has nothing to lose and $15,000 and public esteem to win by battling with Coffey in a no-decision bout. If Willard should outclass Coffey, admitted to be the most formidable claimant for the title, Willard would remove from the mind of some skeptics the impression that he isn't a real champion—that he met Johnson when the negro was in such shape that any sort of a heavyweight could have beaten him.

Should Coffey hold Willard even for 10 rounds, or even outbox or outslug him, it would make the fight fans wild to see both men in a finish fight. It would be a battle that would draw a house that might be nearly as large as that $237,000 affair that was attracted when Johnson met Jeffries.

Willard, by meeting Coffey now would keep fresh the interest in the heavyweight doings. He would make a tremendous hit with the fighting public. And they wouldn't forget the fact that he did what no other champions have been a bit too lazy, if not cowardly to do—to defend a title without loafing around for a year.

If the decision as to meeting Coffey within the next month or six weeks were left to Willard himself, the chances are that the giant Kansan would jump at the chance. Willard wants to fight; he's anxious to demonstrate that he isn't a fluke champion. But Willard isn't the man to decide. Tom Jones, who guides Willard's destiny, and who gets a share of Willard's income, has the final say-so.

Wonder if Tommy would pass up that $10,000 or $15,000 offer for a Willard-Coffey fight if it were made to him? If there would seem to be any chance of it's being accepted it's more than likely that Jimmy Johnson, who arranged the pugilistic card for the Show Corporation of New York, would emerge forth with the money.

Crescents Defeat Whiteport.

On Sunday the crack Crescent baseball club of this city journeyed to Whiteport and defeated the fast team of that place by a score of 18 to 6. The score was five to four up to the eighth inning when the Crescents batted Whiteport pitcher for 13 runs. Robinson, the Crescents' star twirler, had 13 strikeouts to his credit. McMahon played a wonderful game for the Crescents getting 5 hits out of 6 times to the bat. Next Sunday the Crescents will line-up against the fast Eddyville nine at that place and a good game is expected. The Crescents have a fast team this season, and they hope to take the Eddyville bunch in camp. The batteries for the Crescents will be Robinson and McMahon; Eddyville, Black and Schick. All clubs between the ages of 16 to 20 wishing to book games with the Crescents write to Henry Leininger, South Wall street, Kingston.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Frank H. Gumaer and family wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all kind friends and neighbors for expressed sympathy and favors; also to Kingston Yacht Club and his fellow workmen for floral tributes sent in to the bereaved family in the loss of a husband and father. Their loving kindness will always be remembered by MRS. FRANK H. GUMAER AND FAMILY.

TWO GAMES IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

Wednesday afternoon two more games were played in the Junior Baseball League of the Y. M. C. A. In the first game at the lace mill grounds Student B defeated the Red Monograms by a score of 11 to 10. The game was close and exciting up to the finish. The feature of the game was another home run by "Home Run" Huestis, the pitcher of Student B. The lineup of Student B was Kirchener, Van Buren, Webster, Woodrow, Kemble, Finnegan, Huestis, pitcher; Schoonmaker, catcher; Martin and Demier. The Red Monogram players were Keating, Dougherty, catcher; Bernard, Perry, Jordan, Ploski, Leski, Edwards and Keegan, pitcher.

At the Athletic Field School No. 5 clashed with the Lindsley Club and won by a score of 4 to 3. This game was also well played as the close score shows. The lineup of the winning team, No. 5, was H. Doughty, Ferguson, Schwenk, Wood, B. Doughty, McAndrews, Roach, Wilson, catcher, and Hughes, pitcher. The lineup of the Lindsley Club was M. Mones, Sherman, Bence, pitcher; Alcon, Vallum, D. Mones, Jacobson, Smith and Sella, pitcher.

Saturday afternoon another postponed game between the Red Monograms and School No. 8 will be played at the lace mill grounds at 2 o'clock. The other games scheduled for Saturday are: School No. 1 vs. No. 5, Athletic Field, at 9 a. m. No. 6 vs. Manor Stars, Athletic Field, 10 a. m. No. 8 vs. Student B, lace mill grounds at 9 a. m. Lindsley Club vs. Red Monograms, lace mill at 10 a. m.

County C. E. Convention.

Enthusiasm over the coming Ulster County Christian Endeavor convention is running high among the workers. The Kingston city societies are sending out representatives to as many societies as possible, to invite them at the convention at the First Presbyterian Church on May 24 and 25, and to assure them of a hearty welcome and of royal entertainment. Great care has been taken in the preparation of a most interesting and helpful program. The speakers are men of ability and state-wide reputation in the work, and bring practical working ideas and great enthusiasm, as well as spiritual inspiration to Christian Endeavorers and their friends, who are invited to every session of the convention.

Census Taking Begins June 1.

The word of taking the census in the city and county will be started by the enumerators who have been appointed by the secretary of state on Tuesday morning, June 1, at 7 o'clock. Roger M. Loughran of this city is in charge of the enumerators in this district.

It's a mighty short way to pipe-joy

if you go via Prince Albert—tobacco that answers every question any man can hand out! You can jam it in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette and it will produce more real and true happiness than any brand at any price you ever bucked up against. Now, let's all get together, and repeat slowly and distinctly:

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

can't bite your tongue, and can't parch your throat, because it is made by a patented process that removes the bite and the parch. No other tobacco ever was or can be made like P. A. And P. A. tastes as good as that sounds!

So the warm tip is: Get the jimmy pipes out of dark corners, out of the rafters, where you've hidden them for fear of more tongue bites. Get 'em out and fire up with P. A., for you can go to it fancy-free from sun-up right down the line to the pillow-period!

And the sooner you know this little thing personally, the more joy 'us you'll be.

Prince Albert is sold everywhere in tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that just beats the band for keeping P. A. fine like silk. You buy one quick.
